OUTLINES.

Imposing ceremonies yesterday marked the presentation to Bruton, the oldest parish in the United States at Williamsburg, Va., of a lectern presented by President Roosevelt and a Bible presented by King Edward, of England, as a token of admiration for the earlier settlers who established this church; it was this exercise which brought the distinguished Bishop of London to this country; the ceremony was the feature of the Triennial Convention of the Episcopal Church now being held in Richmond, Va.——During a Republican rally in Waterbury, Conn., last night the floor collapsed and precipitated 150 men to the cellar below, after which fire broke out from an exploding lamp; one man was fatally injured and several others were seriously injured.——In the American League championship games yesterday Philadelphia defeated Washington in two games and Detroit easily took the game from St. Louis.——The Board of Directors of the Jamestown Exposition yesterday elected Alvah H. Martin, of Norfolk, as director general to succeed James M. Barr, resigned.——A world search was yesterday instituted for a millionaire heiress who ran away with the man she loved and then sailed for a trip abroad.——Evidence was heard yesterday in the case of the Mississippi pilot who came so nearing fouling the Preisdent's boat last week.——New York markets: Money on call nominal; time loans quiet but firm; 60 days, 6 per cent.; 90 days 6 1-2 per cent., six months, 6 per cent; cotton closed quiet 10 points higher at 11.75; flour firm, fair to good, $4.75 to $5.00; choice to fancy, $5.05 to $5.35; wheat, firmer; No. 2 red, $1.07 3-4 elevator; corn spot firm, No. 2, 74 1-2 elevator; oats, steady; mixed, 53 1-2; turpentine easy, 55 1-2; rosin steady, common to good, $4.40.

Y.M.C.A. TAKES LEAD

Defeat of Monarchs and Tie With Rattlers Put Association at Top.

THE CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE

Two Games Yesterday to Large Crowds—Nine Innings Prevented Doubleheader Between Champions and Seventh Streeters.

Yesterday's Results.

Monarchs, 2; Giants, 3.
Y. M. C. A., 6; Rattlers, 6.

Standing of the Clubs.

	Won.	Lost	P.C.
Y. M. C. A.	11	6	.647
Monarchs	12	7	.631
Rattlers	7	11	.383
Giants	6	13	316

The defeat of the Monarchs by the Giants in a score of three to two and the ability of the Y. M. C. A. to hold the Rattlers down to a tie game for nine innings and until it was too late to play the last half of the doubleheader, gave the Association team the top line in the percentage column in the standing of the clubs of the City League, at Hilton Park yesterday afternoon. Both games for the strip of bunting attracted an unusually large crowd to witness the exhibitions. Only five inning games between the Y. M. C. A. and Rattlers had been scheduled so that a doubleheader could be played but at the end of the fifth inning there was a tie and four more innings had to be gone through with in an effort to make a conclusion. This was not possible, however, and the tie was called by Umpire Moore shortly after the shades of evening began to fall.

A three base hit by Bush for the Giants and the pitching of Gore were perhaps the feature. Cashwell behind the bat received an injured finger in the third inning and had to retire in favor of Carr.

The Score—		R	H	E
Monarchs	..100 010 000—	2	4	5
Giants	..100 000 002—	3	7	1

Batteries: Green and Moore; Gore and Cashwell and Carr.

The second game was, of course, the most interesting because upon this depended the lead of the percentage column at least until next Saturday when the two champion teams will meet for a doubleheader to finally determine the leadership of the league.

The Score—		R	H	E
Y. M. C. A.	....100 140 000—	6	9	5
Rattlers	..000 060 000—	6	6	3

Batteries: Parker and McClellan; Quinney and West.

It is stated that the Monarchs will have to win both games next Saturday to cinch the pennant. As the Y. M. C. A. is the team which will meet the Monarchs, it is safe to say that a great effort will be made by each team to win. There is the greatest interest in the championship games and the attendance promises to break the season's record.

NEWS FROM LUMBERTON

Shipping the Luscious Scuppernong. Drunken Negro Crawls in Church to "Sleep it Off"—Social News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, Oct. 5.—A negro prisoner by the name of Johnson, who was put in jail here three weeks ago, charged with murder, having killed another negro near Rowland in this county, died last night, after being sick two weeks. His remains were sent out to his people this morning.

Large quantities of scuppernong grapes are being shipped from here daily by express to Charlotte, Richmond, and other points. This is the first season that the shipping of grapes from here has amounted to anything.

The watermelon crop which has been a record-breaker in this section, is about over, though some are still coming to market.

Mr. W. H. Ellis, of Spencer, N. C., who was one of the first printers to set type on The Robesonian, nearly forty years ago, has been a Lumberton visitor this week.

Visiting lawyers here this week are Messrs. Iredell Meares, of Wilmington; H. F. Seawell, of Carthage; John Y. Smith, of Atlanta, and Solicitor Sinclair, of Fayetteville.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Griffith, of Greensboro, are spending some time here with relatives.

Mrs. Alva H. Ward, of Norfolk, Va., is spending some time here, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pitman.

Mrs. B. M. Davis and daughter, Miss Claudie, who have been spending the Summer in Virginia, returned home Thursday.

The town has added another policeman to the force, which was greatly needed, especially about the railroad station at train time.

During the month of September the Virginia and Carolina Southern Railroad delivered to the Seaboard about forty solid cars of freight, though the new road is only running as yet about ten miles, but it is expected soon to be completed to St. Paul's.

Dr. Akerman, of Wilmington, has been attending Superior Court here this week.

We understand that a few days ago a man living in the country brought to town and offered for sale, a very fine lot of fresh water fish, which it has since developed were killed by the use of lime in a pond. Some of our people are justly very indignant, and it is intimated that he may have to answer in the courts for his method of fishing.

Mr. Joseph Prevatt, residing four miles from town, and one of the leading farmers of this section, has leased out his farm and expects at the beginning of next year to move to town with his family.

A few nights ago when the sexton of one of the town churches went to light up the church for the night service he was startled to find a man stretched across the front door of the church, face downward, Without stopping to investigate he hastened to notify one of the church officials of his find. Investigation revealed the fact that a well konwn colored man in town had overloaded himself with liquor and gone to church to sleep it off.

One of the most pleasant social features of the week was a dance given by the young men in the large dining room of the Waverly Hotel in honor of the young ladies of the town. The occasion was a most pleasant one, and enjoyed thoroughly. Music was furnished by Love's String Band. Those in attendance were: Misses Eva Harrison, Dorrie Clark, Kate Fink, Daisy Courtney and Alma Rancke; Mesdames L. C. Townsend and J. V. Dodenhoff; Messrs. F. P. Gray, L. T. Cook. C. J. Moore, C. H. Morrow, G. E. Rancke, Lee Caldwell, R. McA. Nixon, W. P. and C. P. McAllister, L. C. Townsend, J. Carmichal and Dr. John Knox.

Superintendent and Mrs. R. E. Sentelle entertained in the parlors of the Graded School dormitory last night in honor of the teachers of the Graded School. About 75 young people were in attendance. When the guests arrived they were met by each of the teachers, Misses Nettie Beverly, Pennie Rowland, Lelia May Gill, Mamie Avent, Mary Watson, Rebecca Ward, Sallie McLean, Agnes McBrayer.

An appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court, making twice this case has been to the higher court.

NOW WITH THE JURY

Case of Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Rowland With Twelve Men at Raleigh, N. C.

ALL DAY OF ARGUMENT

State Contended For Murder of First Degree Against Both Defendants. Issue of Life or Death Submitted at 11 Last Night.

(By Associated Press.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 5.—The case of Dr. D. S. Rowland and wife charged with the murder by poisoning of Charles R. Strange, who was then the husband of the present Rowland, was given to the jury tonight. The State's counsel today contended for a verdict of murder in the first degree against both defendants while counsel for the defense argued that the death of Strange was from heart disease and that all the circumstances bore out their contention that his death was from natural causes.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct.—All day today counsel for the defence and prosecution alternated in arguments to the jury in the famous case against Dr. D. S. Rowland and wife charged with poisoning Mrs. Rowland's former husband, Charles R. Strange. During the morning and afternoon sessions there were four speeches for the defence and two for the prosecution, T. T. Hicks, Walter Watson, S. G. Ryan, and two for the prosecution, Elmer Shaffner and Solicitor Armistead Jones. Tonight there was one for the defence by J. N. Holding. Then T. M. Argo closed the argument with a powerful speech for the prosecution.

All the court room and the adjacent corridors were dense with people all during the evening. Col. Argo concluded his speech at 10:30 and Judge Long began at once his charge. This required half an hour and immediately the jury took the case and retired.

Argument of counsel in the Rowland case continued in the afternoon and at night, being concluded at quarter past eleven o'clock. At this time Judge Long began reading his charge to the jury, this lasting till five minutes to 12 o'clock. In it he set out the various facts presented by the State, and charged the jury as to the law of murder in the first degree, this being the degree applied to the killing of a person by poison, the penalty being death. After the charge the jury announced that it would render no verdict tonight, but would go to bed and deliberate in the morning. The general impression is that it will be acquittal or a mistrial.

REPORTED HE WAS ROBBED

Young C. C. Trembley Caused Arrest of Two White Men Last Night.

Young Mr. C. C. Trembley, a doormaker employed by the Chadbourn Sash Door and Blind Company, reported to the police early last night that he had been knocked down and robbed near Fourth and Bladen streets by two white men who were later identified as Walter Way, a well known plumber, and Louis Yates, also well known in the city, both of whom were arrested and are held at the police station pending a hearing of the case by the Mayor tomorrow at noon.

Young Trembley worked late finishing up some shelving work for the Wilmington Grocery Company on Market street last night and boarded a car to go to his home on Brunswick street. On the car near Front and Princess streets, he struck up a casual acquaintance with two men and accompanied them on over into the northern part of the city. He said that he attempted to get off the car at Brunswick street to go to his home but was detained by the two men who got off with him at Fourth and Bladen. They walked down the street together a short distance and when near the rear of Mr. J. D. Mobe's residence, he says that one of the number knocked him down while another also struck him. He broke loose and fled leaving his coat which was on his arm. He ran down the street to summons help and later came back and got his coat. From it he says had been extracted a pay envelope containing something over $9 which had been taken from a pocket. He reported the matter to the police and Way and Yates were later arrested on Bladen street.

L. today, in which he says, in reply to a request for special railroad facilities on Bryan Day, that, owing to the congestion of traffic it will be impossible to run special trains that day, but that extra coaches will be put on all trains."

LIEUT. ORRELL IS NAMED

Commissioned Yesterday as Assistant Inspector of Small Arms Practice With Rank of Major—Other Raleigh News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 5.—There was a decided turn for the worse last night in the condition of Dr. A. H. Moment, who has been desperately ill of typhoid fever for the past six weeks, and the news of his death this morning was not unexpected.

Hon. George C. Cabbell, of Norfolk, Va., one of the most distinguished citizens of Virginia, and an orator of exceptional powers, has accepted an invitation to deliver an address here on the occasion of the annual memorial exercises by Raleigh Lodge No. 735, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. Last year the memorial orator was Hon. W. W. Brandon, auditor of the State of Alabama.

Adjutant General T. R. Robertson issued today commissions to L. B. Bristol, of Statesville, as Lieutenant-Colonel and assistant inspector of small arms, and to Thos. R. Orrell, of Wilmington, as major and assistant inspector of small arms in the North Carolina National Guard. Col. Bristol succeeds Col. C. H. White, of Wilmington, resigned, and Major Orrell is promoted to succeed Col. Bristol.

A charter is issued for the Hutton-Bourbannair Company, of Hickory, with $150,000 capital, subscribed by Geo. N. Hutton and others for conducting a lumber business. The authorized capital is $200,000.

Governor Glenn delivered an address last night for the annual exercises of Draughon's Business College here. This morning he went out to Green Level, this county, to deliver an address for a big Masonic picnic and educational rally.

The A. & M. College Y. M. C. A. held quite a successful reception last night that was greatly enjoyed by nearly three hundred guests. There were about one hundred young ladies, members of various Sunday School classes in the city. These receptions will be given at intervals for the enjoyment of the students.

ALDERMEN MONDAY NIGHT.

Regular Meeting to Be Held Tomorrow Night—Water Commission.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held tomorrow night at the City Hall, and it is expected to be one of the most interesting of the year. Although the special committee from the Board has as yet nothing from the proposition submitted to the Clarendon Water Works Company for the purchase of its plant in this city, it is expected that a rejection will be received formally before the meeting at night and the question of whether or not the city will lay an entirely new system will be finally passed upon. If it is decided to lay an entirely new plant, the commission will probably be named and efforts launched to negotiate the sale of the bonds at once. This matter, with the regular order of business, is expected to round out quite a lengthy session. It is understood that an ordinance will be introduced graduating the fine according to number of violations for automobile speeding.

Admiring Apartment House.

Jasper Bishop, four years old, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Bishop who reside at 702 Dock street, last night accompanied his mother down town and when in the vicinity of Yates' book store became lost from the parent. Mrs. Bishop was much distressed and the police were notified to look out for the tot. After a search of an hour or more the little fellow was found at Fifth and Market streets, gazing up in silent admiration at the Carolina Apartment House. The boy was restored to the overjoyed mother at the home of the family on Dock street.

Funeral of Infant Daughter.

Impressive services were conducted yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock over the remains of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kuhlken, who passed away Friday evening at the family home in this city, No. 904 North Sixth street. The services were by Rev. W. A. Snyder, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church and the funeral hymns were rendered by a special choir. The remains were laid to rest beneath a mound of beautiful flowers in Oakdale Cemetery.

Bishop Strange in Richmond.

The Richmond Dispatch of yesterday says: "Among the members of the House of Bishops are a number who were once rectors of churches in this city. Some of these are Bishop Peterkin, of West Virginia; Bishop Strange, of North Carolina, who was rector of St. Paul's Church; Bishop Burton, of Kentucky, who was rector of historic St. John's Church; Bishop Jagger, who was rector for a while of St. Paul's Church, and Bishop Penick, who was rector of St. Mark's."

DAMAGES FROM CITY

Superior Court Engaged All Day Yesterday in Suit Brought By J. A. Burriss.

SECOND WEEK ON MONDAY

Witnesses For Plaintiff Heard Yesterday—Controversy Over Will Remanded to Clerk—Other Proceedings Yesterday.

All of yesterday's session of the New Hanover Superior Court was taken up with the selection of a jury and the beginning of the testimony for plaintiff in the $10,000 damage suit brought by Capt. J. A. Burriss, formerly of Southport, against the City of Wilmington. Only a forenoon session was held, but this continued until 2 o'clock in the afternoon in order that the case might be progressed as far as possible by the opening of the second week of the civil term on Monday. By recess in the afternoon the plaintiff himself had testified and several character witnesses had been examined in support of the plaintiff. These latter were Messrs. J. W. Brooks, Ed. Taylor, C. D. Maffitt and W. N. Harriss. The case is being hotly contested and will probably not be concluded before some time Tuesday morning or afternoon. Appearing for the plaintiff is Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy while the city is represented by City Attorney Marsden Bellamy and ex-Judge E. K. Bryan.

When court convened yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock the attorneys were heard further in the matter of the will of Nealy Carr. Judge Biggs held that the question should be referred back to the clerk for a hearing and it was so ordered.

It will be recalled that the plaintiff in the Burriss damage suit was injured just before day on the morning of December 6th, 1905, by falling into an excavation in the sidewalk near Front and Orange streets, which it is alleged was wilfully and negligently left open by the city from early in November until the time of the accident. Capt. Burriss alleges that he was hurt in the abdomen and about the arm and hand, in consequence of which injuries he has since been unable to perform manual labor.

Capt. Burriss went on the stand first yesterday and related how the accident occurred and that the injuries received by him were permanent. He spnt some time in the Marine Hospital for treatment and since his fall has gradually grown weaker; that for months after the accident he suffered greatly from the wounds and is still suffering from them at times. Capt. Burriss said that before the accident he was able to earn $75 per month, but since he was injured, he has been able to earn nothing. Of later years he has been engaged at carpenter work. Prior to that time he was a Cape Fear pilot.

The cross-examination of the witness sought to fix the plaintiff with the knowledge of the hole in the sidewalk and intimated that he was guilty of contributory negligence in not exercising the proper care in avoiding the danger. It was also brought out from the witness that the hole in the sidewalk was within a few feet of his door.

It took until almost noon to get the jury in the case, which is composed as follows: James J. Allen, J. C. Loder, D. H. Lee, Albert Solomon, J. T. Eagle, N. B. Chadwick, Joseph Smith, L. M. LeGwin, Calvin George, Geo. A. Diebert, A. W. Clements and Wm. Duncan.

The important damage suit of Capt. J. D. Bowen against the Seaboard Air Line for damages in the sum of $50,000 for injuries received in the terrible wreck at Hamlet something over a year ago, is set for trial first thing tomorrow morning, but under the ruling of the bar, cases previously set and not reached take precedence. This means that Capt. Bowen's suit will probably have to go over to the next term. The next cases of public interest on the docket are those against Clarendon Water Works Company in which suit is brought to recover losses by fire, the allegation being an inadequate water supply contrary to the contract with the city.

Wilmington Third in the List.

The official report of cotton received thus far at the ports of the United States shows Wilmington third in the list. The only two ports ahead are New Orleans and Galveston, Wilmington leading all on the South Atlantic coast. This is due largely to the enterprise of Wilmington's live exporters, Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son, who are understood to be reaching out into new fields this season, this partially overcoming the disposition of the growers to hold their cotton for better prices.

Imported Madeira Wine.

Mr. John H. Kuck, No. 6 North Water street, announces the receipt of a small shipment of the genuine imported Madeira wine, which is being offered to connoisseurs of pure vintage at $2.50 per gallon. Samples may be had at the store and all orders to Phone 185 will receive prompt attention.

A LITTLE TARIFF TALK.

The platform adopted by the State Democratic convention of Nebraska, is admirable in most of its features, but the demand for a "tariff for revenue only," however just that demand may be, is one that we trust will not be placed in the next national platform. The day is far distant when the tariff will be reduced to a strictly revenue basis, and its advocacy will distinctly handicap the Democratic party.

Let our contention be for something that we can hope to accomplish. "Revision" should be the Democratic slogan as to the tariff in general, but a repeal of the duties on articles that yield practically no revenue to the government, and which are imposed solely for the benefit of certain favored industries, should be insisted on.

Nothing is more certain than that an overwhelming majority of the people of this country are opposed to a "tariff for revenue only." Then why repeat the blunder that has heretofore contributed so largely to Democratic defeat?

All the nonsensical talk about "free trade," the "robber tariff," etc., is childish. Protection, in some form, is so firmly established as the policy of this government that nothing less than a political earthquake would shake it from its foundations, and the windmill fights of the Don Quixotes of the Democratic party should be abandoned. The party should never cease to stand for revision of the tariff. Many of the schedules should be reduced and some of them should be repealed. The imposition of an import duty on an article with the sole purpose of keeping it out of the country is infamous and will not be much longer tolerated.

What the Democratic party needs, and must have, is sensible leadership.

JOHN A. JOHNSON.

From a mere possibility Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, has become a strong probability for the Democratic presidential nomination next year. The impression is now becoming general throughout the country that he is the man who can unite the Democrats and lead them in the coming contest with strong hope of success. Governor Johnson says he is not a candidate for the presidency; but his friends say that if tendered the leadership of his party he will not decline the honor. In this connection the following will be read with interest:

Washington, Sept. 25.—Democratic politicians are at a loss to understand whether the flat refusal of Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, to be considered a candidate for the nomination for President is to be taken seriously or not. Mr. Johnson, it is alleged, is playing a masterful game. He realizes fully the danger of coming out too early for the nomination. It is a far cry to the convention next Fall, and the canny Northwesterner is no fool. He probably is in favor of other aspirants cutting out the pace and exhausting themselves before the real dash for the prize is forced upon the contestants. For that matter, there are a number of Republican possibilities who might take heed of the example set by the Governor. The only one spoken of seriously who is following this method of campaign is Governor Hughes, of New York. The chief executive of the Empire State is receptive—very receptive, but he is not going about with a brass band advertising his ambition. In fact, he is denying the too early enthusiasm of his friends. When the real fight begins it is probable the New Yorker will be found all the stronger because of his refusal to be drawn into nerve-racking skirmishes. Governor Johnson probably will furnish a similar surprise in the Democratic affray, once it starts in earnest.

THE MORNING STAR.

Sunday the 22nd, the Wilmington Star, covered 16 pages, in celebration of its fortieth anniversary. The most attractive part of the entire edition was the picture of the young man who forty years ago hung that star in the eastern horrizon, where this writer has seen it sparkling for thirty-five years, often shining forth as a blazing sun. The reader always knows where to look for the Star and for each department of light it continues to shed. As a newspaper, it has always been among the best, giving the news in such shape that the busy man may gather it with the least loss of time. It has been given to its founder, Major William H. Bernard, the privilege to guide its course throughout these forty years. May many years yet be added to his life to shed light to his friends through this bright luminary.—Maxton Scottish Chief.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—"President Roosevelt is on the rampage again, and Wall street is quaking. Every trader will hang on his words. If he speaks a word of cheer, stocks will rise; if he shakes the big stick, stocks will fall. The silly season is perpetual in Wall street." — Richmond Times-Dispatch (Dem.)

—"Governor Hughes has been a fighter with a purpose ever since he entered public life. He has been a fighter whose hands are clean and whose aims are high. He has never been afraid, he has never faltered. The people like a fighter, especially when he is batttling for them. Mr. Fairbanks is, comparatively, a novice. Yet it seems to be a fairly safe assumption that Mr. Hughes will be President of the United States before Mr. Fairbanks achieves that distinction."—Baltimore Sun (Ind. Dem.)

—"Militant patriotism is a drug in the market; plenty of men are willing to fight for their country who would rob it every time they got a chance. Governor Folk tells of a man who actually shed tears during the singing of a patriotic song because he had no chance to fight for his country, and three weeks later confessed that he was a member of a syndicate that was selling legislation to the highest bidder. At Gettysburg Governor Hughes said: 'I would not disparage the patriotism or the courage of men who faced the belching mouths of cannon but the kind of courage needed now is that of men who will face a public job with the same patriotism.' Ah, yes; civic patriotism is a good deal harder to find than the fighting sort."—Philadelphia Record (Dem.)

—Advertising is what newspapers have to sell, just as a grocer has groceries to sell and a dry goods merchant has dry goods displayed on his counters to dispose of at a profit to possible customers. If a merchant gave away his wares he would not prosper and moreover the public would come to hold his goods in light esteem. The man who buys ten dollars' worth of display advertising has no more right to ask and expect a twenty-five dollar "write-up" thrown in free than has the man who buys a pair of trousers at a clothing store to expect the merchant to throw in a suit of clothes. Yet all too frequently these free "puffs" are demanded and sometimes exacted by advertisers and by some publishers they have been so easily granted that the true value of newspaper advertising is not appreciated in certain quarters. It is certainly high time that publishers awaken to a sense of the injustice that they have been working to themselves and to their co-workers and indirectly to all others concerned.

If real newspaper advertising has come to be held in something of contempt only the publishers themselves are to blame.—Newspaperdom.

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellet appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affects the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them. Guaranteed also for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by R. R. Bellamy, Druggist. 50c.

Carpeau's Unconventionality.

The sculptor Carpeau was always a bohemian and generally absentminded. Invited once to the Tuileries by Emperor Napoleon III. and the Empress Eugenie, he pulled out his pipe after dinner, filled it and, discovering that he had no matches, took a scrap of paper, climbed on a chair and lighted the pipe from the great chandelier above the table. "You don't mind smoking, do you, ma'am?" he said to the empress. He once accepted from a rich patron an order to make a sculptured group representing the Cyclops Polyphemus crushing the youth Acis under a rock. Carpeau had no sooner accepted the commission than he regretted it, for the subject had no fascinations whatever for him. He put the matter off again and again, but was urgently pressed to begin it by his patron. At last one day Carpeau took the impatient patron to his studio and showed him a great rough block of unformed clay. "There is your group," said the sculptor. "My group? Where?" "Why, this is the rock." "That's all very well, but where is Acis?" "Under the rock—crushed quite out of sight, of course." "But where is Polyphemus?" "Oh, he? Why, do you think he would remain anywhere about after he had done a thing like that?" This was as far as the classical "group" ever got.

Remarkable Loss of Memory.

Dr. Macnish in his book on "The Philosophy of Sleep" gives the following remarkable instance of lost memory:

"A young American woman on awakening from a protracted sleep lost memory of all she had before learned. Her memory was capacious and was stored with a copious stock of ideas. Unexpectedly and without any forewarning she fell into a profound sleep, which continued several hours beyond the ordinary term. On waking she was discovered to have lost every trace of acquired knowledge. Her memory was a clean washed slate. All vestiges both of words and things were obliterated and gone. It was found necessary for her to learn everything again. She even acquired by new efforts the arts of spelling, reading, writing and calculating and gradually became acquainted with the persons and objects around, like a being for the first time brought into the world. In these exercises she made considerable proficiency. But after a few months another fit of somnolency invaded her. On rousing from it she found herself restored to the state she was in before the first paroxysm, but was wholly ignorant of every event and occurrence that had befallen her afterward."

The Chilling Reply.

According to a Washington legal light, there are times when a lawyer regrets the use of an illustration which a moment before has appeared especially felicitous.

"The argument of my learned and brilliant colleague," said counsel for the plaintiff in a suit for damages from a railway company, "is like the snow now falling outside—it is scattered here, there and everywhere."

Whereupon opposing counsel improved his opportunity. "All I can say," he hastily interposed, "is that the gentleman who has likened my argument to the snow now falling outside has neglected to observe one little point to which I flatter myself the similarity extends—it has covered all the ground in a very short time."—Harper's Weekly.

A Parable.

Once Upon a Time there was a Fair Young Girl with soft, white hands and a Swan's Neck. She was born to be a Prince's Bride, but unfortunately there were no Princes near where she lived. Also her Parents were poor. This Sweet Young Thing liked fine clothes, but didn't like work. So when a Young Man of Common Blood offered her his hand in marriage she cried him yea. She thought she was going to live on Easy Street, with nothing to do but kiss her husband goodby in the morning and watch for his return at night. Five years later she had two children to take care of; her soft, white hands were red; her sylph-like form was bulky. She worked eighteen hours a day, washing, ironing and sewing, with no relief in sight.

By that time she began to wish that she had learned stenography and remained single.

Moral.—People who don't like work shouldn't marry for a home.—Detroit Free Press.

Character Building.

What is the object of education? Is it to teach a child or man to know something that he did not know or to be something that he was not? Is it, in other words, an intellectual or a moral process? The safest answer is to say that it is both. But there is a growing suspicion among those who have studied the question most deeply that our schools are not so successful as they might be on the side of character building.—London Chronicle.

By Rail and Water

The Seaboard Air Line has put on sale interchangeable mileage books in North Carolina, which are good on a number of roads, but which are not accepted outside the State. They are issued on the basis of 2 1-4 cents per mile. It is probable that mileage books, good in Virginia, may be issued. The new rate, which goes into effect at midnight, provides a two-cent rate on ten of the principal lines.

The Board of Trade of Winston-Salem, N. C., has filed a complaint against the coal rates on the Norfolk and Western with the Interstate Commerce Commission. The board asserts that the per ton mile rate on coal to that city is just double what the rate per ton mile averages to other points, and that there have been no reductions in years, whereas there have been reductions to such points as Roanoke, Lynchburg, etc.

Declaring that for want of authority it is unable to meet the objects of its creation and give the full service demanded, being burdened with responsibilities without correspondent power to execute—a mere figurehead that stands for nothing—the Kentucky Railroad Commission has appealed to the voters for a constitutional amendment extending the body's province in order to enforce proper equipment and fix and maintain just and reasonable rates of transportation.

According to compiled statements made by the officials of the various Missouri railroads, the operation of the new two-cent passenger fare law has cost the Missouri roads $1,500,000 during the past three months. The law became effective on June 17th, and by agreement with Attorney General Hadley the railroads decided to reduce their fares and test the law until October 1st. Now, it is announced, the companies will unite and make a further effort to have the act declared unconstitutional, on the ground that it is confiscatory.

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, State Health Commissioner of Pennsylvania, issued an order on September 20th directing that sheets in the berths of sleeping cars running through Pennsylvania must hereafter be long enough to turn over the upper end of the blanket at least two feet, so as to prevent the blanket from coming in contact with the face of the occupant of the berth. The order also directs that porters on parlor cars must not brush the clothing of passengers in the aisles of the cars, but only at the end of the coach beyond the seats. The order, it is stated, is designed to protect the traveling public from communicable diseases.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 4.—Six hundred tons of debris taken from the streets of San Francisco, following the earthquake, is the ballast unloaded from the bark Astral and placed in low places along the Brambleton ward water front this week. The Astral, which is owned by the Standard Oil Company, and which is here to take on a cargo of coal, is attracting considerable interest, and many persons were around yesterday taking portions of the ballast for souvenirs. Many coins have been found among the debris, and various articles, twisted out of shape and of little worth, have also been found by the workmen employed in doing the unloading.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 30.—"I think that railroad building in the United States is a thing of the past." said James J. Hill, of the Great Northern Railroad "The trouble is, there are not sufficient terminals. Some time ago I asked a real estate man what it would cost to get a tier of blocks, one of the narrowest, from the Harlem River to Thirty-third street, New York. He came back in a week and said that $550,000,000 would not buy it. That means that it fould cost for terminals alone $105,000 a mile for every mile, from Chicago to New York before the lines were built. The railroads can't pay rent on such high priced property."

Chattanoga, Tenn, Sept. 29.—The Chattanooga division of the Southern Railway will be abolished October 1 and the lines embraced in that division will be made a part of the Atlanta and Knoxville divisions as they were before last January. The Mooresville (N. C.) division of the Northern district will also be discontinued at the same time, and the lines composing it will be merged with the Salem division. As a result of these changes F. P. Pelter, superintendent of the Chattanooga division, will return to the Nashville division and Superintendent E. M. Newell, of the Mooresville division, will be transferred to the Rock Hill (S. C.) division, succeeding W. W. Duell, who has been appointed superintendent of terminals at Atlanta.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 4.—Oberlin M. Carter, formerly captain in the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, who was sentenced to five years in prison in Leavenworth, Kan., after conviction by a court-martial of conspiring with Greene and Gaynor to defraud the United States Government out of nearly $2,000,000 in connection the river and harbor contracts in this district, is consulting engineer of the Florida East Coast Railway at a large salary, and will have an active part in the extension of the line from Miami to Key West. Carter is at present in Chicago. Greene and Gaynor, Carter's alleged accomplices and convicted years ago, are in the Macon (Ga.) jail, still fighting execution of the sentence and awaiting judgment in the United States Court of Appeals.

Florence Times: "In order to expedite the handling of cotton, particularly, the Atlantic Coast Line has put on a through freight train between Columbia and Charleston. The establishment of this train was the result of continued complaints from Charlestin cotton factors that the Coast Line was in the habit of giving the preference in movement to cotton destined for Wilmington. It was alleged that cotton shipments for Wilmington export houses were forwarded to them daily from Coast Line stations, but that the agents had instructions to hold Charleston shipments until carloads were made up. General Superintendent Anderson denied that such was the case ,and, to prevent the possibility of such misapprehension, put on the through train from Columbia, to expedite the movement of Charleston cotton."

In a preliminary statement of estimated earnings for the year ended June 30th sent by the management of the Atlantic Coast Line to stockholders yesterday it is shown that while gross earnings increased $1,903,000 operating expenses increased much more and net earnings decreased $1,602,000. The gross earnings for the year were $26,772,000; operating expenses, $19,587,000, and net earnings, $7,184,000. The total income was $9,858,000, a decrease of $1,494,000, and after the payment of interest, taxes and other charges there was left a balance applicable to dividends of $3,118,000, a decrease of $1,699,000 from the preceding year. The surplus for the year is put at $125,869, $1,972,443 less than the surplus at the end of the preceding year. The earnings applicable to stock are equivalent to 6 1-4 per cent. on the common stock. The company has paid 6 per cent. on the common since 1905.

WHEN DOES A MAN GROW OLD?

The Asheville Citizen Lightly Submits Some Observations.

(Asheville Citizen.)

It is with feeling of fear and trembling that the Citizen ventures to encroach upon the holy of holies of the illustrious Charlotte Observer, and, at the risk of great bodily injury, take up the loose thread of a discussion into which our Charlotte contemporary has drawn the Virginian-Pilot and the Industrious News of Greensboro. The latter paper refutes the Observer's claim to the effect that a man begins to get old when he is unable to put his trousers on without leaning against the bed for support; when he mounts the stairs with faltering steps; when his hands tremble and his liver enters loud protests daily. The industrious one hath enlisted our sympathy, in that it is young in years and experience, and hath none of that scientific lore which hath made our esteemed friend in Charlotte a foe to be feared in wordy debate. Here now we fling the gauntlet.

The art of encasing one's limbs in choice creations of the sartorial art, while seeking support from juxtaposition with the port side of one's nocturnal couch, is not the sign of the approaching "23". Neither is the still small voice of a deranged liver the precursor of life's sunset. Nor shall it be said that the trembling hand and the uncertain knee proclaim in clarion tones a man's gradual transformation to the "sear and yellow", for by all these signs have the knowing ones been deceived. We have seen young men in the twenties frantically essaying the task of putting two legs where only one ought to be, and in the operation they did not disdain to court the friendly aid of the bedpost. Men in the thirties have been known to suffer untold agonies from the after effects of a well soaked liver, said soaking having been administered the night before in the shape of concoctions of many kinds and hues. We wish to go on record here as emphatically asserting that the dark brown taste which precedes the dawn is not the special prerogative of old age. Then the trembling hand and the tottering knees. Our Charlotte savant knows well that such characteristics have been ,and are often associated with the prime of manhood. What are the wild waves saying? Memories, though sometimes painful, still carry the fragrance of rosemary.

Thus, friend Charlotte, do we puncture thy diagnoisis. Lend thine ear for one brief instant and we will tell thee when a man may know that "church is about out" and that "taps" is soon to sound. When a man's hair begins to fall into his soup; when the collar button which rolleth merrily under the dresser is irrevocably lost, because he is unable to stoop for it; when the dew lying thick on the exterior of the luscious mint-julep fails to light responsive fires in his eyes; when the passing of a form divine recalls no dream of youth—it is then, ah then, dear contemporary, that a man is slipping and it becomes necessary for him to sand his track.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR PET DOG

Buried In $500 Coffin After Crossing Continent For Health.

(Special to Baltimore Sun.)

New York, Oct. 1.—After chartering a special train across the continent to bring her pet dog to a hospital here in an effort to save its life, Mrs. Stanley Allan-Shepard, widow of a wealthy jeweler, returned today to Los Angeles, Cal., leaving the body of the animal behind in a $500 coffin in the Hartsdale cemetery for dogs and cats. Mrs. Allan-Shepard, as soon as she arrives on the Coast will make arrangements for a vault in a cemetery to hold the dog's body. Never before perhaps has such effort been made or a similar amount of money spent in an endeavor to save the life of a pet dog.

The animal, which was named Beauty, caught cold several weeks ago and developed acute pneumonia. Physicians in Los Angeles, where the dog and its mistress were, said that Beauty's life could not be saved. In desperation Mrs. Allan-Shepard brought the animal to the veterinary hospital of Dr. Andrew Armstrong and Dr. S. K. Johnson, at 117 West Twenty-fifth street, where a successful operation had been performed on the dog some months before.

Oxygen creosote sprays and other heroic treatment were resorted to to save Beauty's life, but the animal died on Wednesday night. Its body was then placed in a white velvet coffin and a gold collar with the word "Beauty" studded in diamonds in it was placed around the dead animal's neck. The coffin was placed in a metallic box lined with copper and, after being hermetically sealed, was lowered into a grave.

Beauty was a Maltese poodle with long, white silky hair. He was 17 years old and was presented to Mrs. Allan-Shepard by a friend, who obtained the animal from the kennels of the Duke of Manchester.

Drink Beer

As a food and a tonic. Every component in good beer is good for you.

But be sure it is pure, else harm will be mixed with its healthfulness.

Beer aged insufficiently causes biliousness. That is why all Schlitz beer is aged for months in our cooling rooms.

Beer that's impure—not cleanly, not filtered, not properly sterilized—should be avoided.

That is why we spend more to insure absolute purity than we spend on anything else in our brewing.

Hearing on Proposed Bridge Matter in Pitt County Next Week.

The following notice was issued yesterday from the United States Engineers' office in this city:

"Whereas, Good reason exists to believe that the proposed location of a bridge over Contentnea Creek, N. C., to be built by the Commissioners of Pitt County, N. J. B. Duke Scoured Europe For Perfect Pearls For Bride.

(Special to Baltimore Sun.)

New York, Oct. 4.—After scouring all cities of America and Europe for the most perfect string of pearls to be found, J. B. Duke, head of the tobacco trust, has just presented to Mrs. Duke—formerly Mrs. William Inman, of Atlanta—a necklace that cost him $200,000.

The one condition of purchase was that every pearl should be flawless,and one necklace after another was refused.

Today there was a thrill in the jewelry district of Fifth avenue when it became known that the $200,000 trinket had been turned over to Mr. Duke as satisfactory in every particular. Each dealer—with the single exception of the fortunate seller, whose name is kept a secret—is asking himself, "Who made such a deal in these times of financial stringency."

Every pearl in the outfit, which includes a "dog-collar" necklace and an arrangement of loops of the jewels designed to fall artistically over the shoulders, is perfect. Those entering into the collar are the size of small peas, while those that form the festoons range in size from a large pea to a hazelnut. Mrs. Duke will have her first opportunity of exhibiting at the opening of the season at the Metropolitan Opera House, in the parterre row, of which the multimillionaire tobacco man is said to have secured a box.

Then there is a department for ladies' tailoring and the reshaping, cleaning and remodelling hats of every kind by a new and improved process. This is in charge of Mr. C. H. Beardsley. PILOT WAS SUSPENDED

Came Dangerously Near Ramming Boat on Which President Rode.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 5.—Evidence was heard here today in the case of Clarence Nichols, of Cairo, Ills., pilot of the steamboat Fred Hartweg whose suspension as a pilot for ninety days was ordered by President Roosevelt yesterday. Witnesses appeared before Captain H. C. Waltz, inspector of hulls in his office at the Federal building. The hearing was behind closed doors and the nature of the testimony was not given out.

George W. Tice, vice president of the Monongahela Consolidated and Coke Company, which owns the steamer Fred Hartweg, made the following statement regarding the reported collision between that boat and the President's boat, the Mississippi during the trip down the river between Cairo and Memphis.

"The steamer Fred Hartweg, whose headquarters are at Cairo, was placed at the disposal of the Pittsburg delegation of which Captain W. B. Rogers was the chairman, and which numbered about 16 degeates, through the courtesy of the company. The Hartweg joined the procession at Cairo and proceeded to Memphis. So far as the Pittsburg delegation knew or were able to ascertain, from the officers of the Hartweg there had been no official orders given in regard to the order in which the boats were to proceed. From every appearance the boats in general did not recognize any particular rule, running, as they did, to a large extent at random. There was some sparring, or as river men would say, jockeying, between the several boats, among the aggressors being the larger side wheeler Alton, of Alton, Illinois; the steamer Dick Fowler of Paucah, Ky., and others, two of which boats at different times ran by and far in advance of the President's boat. I myself was a passenger on the Hartweg and at no time during my observation did the Hartweg approach the President's boat so close as to make an accident or collision even probable."

Captain Waltz announced tonight he had suspended the license of Pilot Nichols for six months.

The President had requested that his license be suspended for only three months, but Captain Waltz, after hearing the evidence, decided to make the penalty six months.

A MISSING HEIRESS

Married Man She Loved and Then Sailed Abroad.

(Special to Baltimore Sun.)

New York, Oct. 5.—Every mile of the North Atlantic as far as the wireless waves will reach is being searched today for trace of Sampel Clarkson, a young Englishman and his bride who was Miss Helen Maloney, the daughter of Martin Maloney, the millionaire oil man.

The young couple have not been seen since they came to New York on a shopping tour from the Summer home of the bride's parents at Spring Lake, N. J., two days ago. Instead of returning to her home that night the young woman sent a message in which she informed her parents that she had secretly married the man she loved and that when the message reached Spring Lake they "would be on the water." Instantly the search for the young woman, who is said to be one of the richest heiresses in the world, was begun.

Martin Maloney father of the missing girl, arrived in this city today from St. Louis and immediately sent an agent to Europe to find the missing couple and assure them he had no ill will for either of them because of their marriage.

He said that he wanted his daughter to come back home and that he would surrender his mansion at Spring Lake to her and her husband and see that they would want for nothing. They are well equipped for a European tour and I suppose planned to travel while awaiting our action.

FIVE BROKERS ARRAIGNED

Charged With Running Bucketshops In Washington.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Allison C. Jenkins, Thornton Chesley, T. Browning Spencer, Percy Wade and Jesse H. Hodges, brokers, who were recently indicted on a charge of violating the Anti-Gambling laws, were today arraigned in the District of Columbia Supreme Court and pleaded not guilty.

Attorneys Thompson and Laskey, representing Percy Wade, a local stock broker, were today permitted by Justice Stafford to withdraw the plea of not guilty and file a demurrer in time to have the matter disposed of by next Friday. United State's Attorney Baker has decided to call one of the so-called "bucketshop" cases for trial October 15, although which case will be tried first has not been determined.

Attorney W. E. Ambrose, counsel for Frank Kane, asked that his case be continued until next Tuesday, because his client is now in Baltimore, and the notice for the court calling for his arraignment had been received too late to notify Mr. Kane in time.

Jesse H. Hodges, indicted jointly with Mr. Wade, did not appear for arraignment when his name was called as he was outside the jurisdiction of the court. Attorney Harvey Given asked Justice Stafford that a bench warrant be issued for Hodges' arrest. This was done, and as soon as found Hodges will be brought to this city for trial.

PRESIDENT'S BEAR HUNT

Mr. Roosevelt Arrives Safely in Louisiana.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Lake Providence, La., Oct 5.—After a safe trip from Memphis to Lake Providence where he this morning addressed several thousand residents of East Carroll Parish, President Roosevelt continued on his journey to Samboul station, fifteen miles below Lake Providence, where his special train was sidetracked. The last seen of the President here was as his train disappeared down the track.

Mr. Roosevelt was standing on the rear platform waving a large white handkerchief to the crowd which was still standing in a drizzling rain before the railroad station. Advices from Stamboul later today announced that the President and his party had reached their camp on the Tensas river, about twelve miles from Stamboul, and that the President was anticipating with much delight the idea of partaking of a portion of two large bucks which were killed for him near the camp late yesterday. It was announced also that the President would spend the day quietly Sunday and that early Monday morning he would start out on his first hunting trip.

Bear hunters say that trails will be easy to follow with the ground as wet as it is and that the President stands a good chance of getting one bear if not more when he starts out Monday morning.

CUBAN STRIKE SPREADS.

Insurgents May Take Advantage of Disturbed Conditions.

(Special to Baltimore Sun.)

Washington, Oct. 4.—Considerable apprehension is manifested at the War Department over the strike in Cuba. Revolutionary factions, it is feared, may take advantage of the disturbed conditions on the railroads and in the larger commercial centres.

A telegram from Governor Magoon today shows that the strike now includes the trainmen and shopmen on the United Railways, extending from Havana to Jovanilles, Santa Clara Province; the train and shop men of the Western Railway, extending from Havana to San Juan, Pinar del Rio Province, and the shopmen on the Havana Central. He states that there is no strike on the Van Horne system, the Cuban Eastern or Cuban Central roads. Since the agreement of the strikers and postal authorities has been reached it appears that the mails are being handled with little delay.

The general manager of the Western Railway reported to Governor Magoon this morning that his road is operating two out of four trains daily with excellent police protection, but trouble is feared at some of the stations in Pinar del Rio.

Mr. Magoon telegraphed to the Governor of Pinar del Rio, who replied that everything was tranquil in that province. Havana is quiet.

FOREIGN CHEF FOR WEDDING

Will Prepare Breakfast at Vanderbilt Marriage.

(Special to Baltimore Sun.)

Newport, R. I., Oct. 4.—It seems quite certain that the wedding of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and Count Leszio Scechenyi will take place here and that it will be a brilliant affair.

Mrs. Vanderbilt has cabled abroad for a special chef to come to this country and prepare the wedding breakfast. He is expected in a week, but it will be some time later that the wedding will take place. Meanwhile his skill as a chef will be taxed in the preparation of menus for luncheons and dinners which are to be given at the Breakers for Miss Vanderbilt.

The Count is now the guest of his future brother-in-law, Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, at Oakland. This morning he was brought in from the country at top speed, the auto never stopping till it reached the Breakers. Miss Vanderbilt was waiting for him, and together they went over the great quantity of mail and the numerous cablegrams and telegrams that have arrived for them.

WRECKED SOUTHERN TRAIN.

Heavy Rail Placed on Track Near Union, S. C., Yesterday.

(By Wire to the Morning Star).

Union, S. C., Oct. 5.—What is believed to have been a deliberate plan to wreck Southern Railway passenger train No. 13 northbound was made near here today when the train while running at a rapid rate struck a heavy rail, which had been placed across the track. The engine jumped the track and was demolished and the mail and baggage cars were thrown off their trucks. Engineer A. L. McCoy and fireman, Will Graham, colored, jumped, but were badly scalded by escaping steam. Several of the passengers in the dining car were considerably shaken up, as also were the mail clerk, baggage master and express messenger.

LUMBER COMPANY INSOLVENT.

Big Concern Will Probably Pay Off All Their Obligations.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—Charles H. Thompson has been appointed receiver of the Rumbarger Lumber Company, a Virginia corporation, with officers here. Upon petition of the creditors and stockholders that concern is temporarily insolvent.

The total liabilities of the concern are said to amount to $280,000 unpaid accounts and borrowed money.

The company has assets aggregating $375,000. The insolvency is said to be due to the exchange of the concern's own notes for worthless paper.

Under the management of the receiver the company expects to meet all its obligations.

RECEIVER FOR SOUTHERN.

Interesting Report That is Current in Washington.

(By Wire to Raleigh Times.)

Washington, Oct. 5.—The rumor that a receiver will be appointed to manage the affairs of the Southern Railway reached here from New York and was met by the officials of the road with a strong denial. In fact, the denial is as strong as that made of the rumor in New York yesterday by President Finley, of the Southern.

While the exertion of selling pressure on selling shares of the Southern in Wall Street drove down the prices, the road is making a larger percentage of earnings than it was hoped for in the operating expenses, although these expenses are larger this year than they have been for a long time.

Officials of the road claim the company is in the best possible condition. The rumor that says the road may be put in the hands of a receiver by the Federal courts is also denied by the management on the ground that the road has pursued a policy of conciliation with the courts, and such action by the Federal branch is not looked for at all.

PLATFORM OF CONVENTION

Republican State Convention Adopts Platform—Several of the Planks.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Boston, Mass., Octo. 5.—The platform of the Republican State Convention reaffirms the principles of protection to American industries and at the same time there is commended for the adoption by the next national republican convention, a resolution calling on Congress to meet in special session to determine upon the amendments to the present tariff laws, or enactment of the new measure to meet the changed condition; to remove duties needless either for revenue or protection and make such modification as experience may have been shown to be necessary.

RAILWAY RATE APPEAL

Hearing of Argument Before Judge Pritchard Yesterday.

(Special to the Raleigh Times.)

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 5.—Judge Pritchard is today hearing argument of counsel on the appeal by the state from a ruling of Judge Montgomery, the master in the railway rate controversy, who held that the state's counsel should not go back further than June 30, 1905, in an examination of the Southern Railway books. Mr. Woodard, Mr. Justice and Judge Shepherd are representing the State and Mr. Busbee and Mr. Thom the railway.

Strong argument by both sides is being presented. It is probablye that the hearing will not end until late this afternoon.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Beginning on November 20th, and continuing for two days, the second annual convention of the North Carolina Sabbath Observance Association will be held in Charlotte. The association is a branch of the American Sabbath Union. Rev. R. F. Campbell, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Asheville, is president of the association, and Rev. W. H. McMaster is the field secretary.

—Statesville, Oct. 5.—Mr. Isidore Wallace has secured options on the farms of Messrs. J. W. and J. L. Sherrill, on the Taylorsville road, opposite the State farm and embracing about 200 acres. The farms are valued at $12,000. It is the purpose to offer these options to the trustees of the State Reform School as a site for the school. The trustees will meet at Greensboro next Tuesday to select a site for the reformatory.

—Rocky Mount Record: On November 28th, which is next Thanksgiving day, there will be held in Rocky Mount a grand old fashioned riding tournament at the base ball grounds. There will be four prizes offered, the first prize to be $20.00 in gold, the second prize $15.00, the third prize $10.00 and the fourth $5.00. There will be an entrance fee of $5.00 charged to all riders. The tournament will be followed at night by a grand ball and supper.

—Rocky Mount Record: The Rocky Mount Insurance and Realty Company, held a land sale at South Rocky Mount Wednesday of last week which proved to be quite a success. There were thirty-eight lots sold at public auction, besides a number sold at private sale. There were two prizes offered. A prize of $50.00 to the person buying the largest number of lots and a prize of $25.00 to the person paying the highest price for a lot. Both of these were won by Mr. R. L. Skinner.

—Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 4.—Mr. E. H. Farris, of High Point, and Justice Broadhurst, of Greensboro, brought suit in the superior court here for Anderson Beaver, of High Point, against the Western Union Telegraph Company for $5,000 for alleged negligence on the part of the telegraph company in not sending a prepaid telegram addressed to parties in New York, asking them to meet the sick wife of Mr. Beaver. Mr. Beaver is connected with the Pittsburg Plate Glass Company at High Point.

—The refining plant of Swift Company, in North Charlotte, has been completed and operation will begin Monday. There are nine large tanks holding 5,000 pounds each and these will be used to refine crude cotton seed oil into lard oil. Besides these large tanks there are 15 smaller ones, holding from 200 to 250 gallons each. This is the largest plant of the kind in the State, and can boast of the highest smoke stack in the State. It represents an outlay of many thousands and makes this one of the most important distributing points for the company in the south.

—Caroleen, Oct. 5.—The strike of the weavers employed in Henrietta Mills No. 2, came as a bolt out of a clear sky. No demands had been made and but few if any of the mill officials anticipated trouble. The weavers left their looms yesterday afternoon a few moments after the president and general manager, S. B. Tanner, boarded the Seaboard train for Charlotte. Several attempts have been made from time to time to organize the operatives here, but each attempt resulted in a failure. Being without a leader and with no organization back of the operatives it is thought the present strike will be short lived. The weavers, after marching out yesterday, said that they were striking for higher wages. They have no other grievance so far as could be learned. The trouble is precipitated at a very unfortunate time for the mills as they are crowded with orders. This is the first strike in the history of the Henrietta Mills.

—Greensboro, Oct. 5.—The trustees of the Southern Presbyterian College and Conservatory of Music at Red Springs met here last night. President C. G. Vardell submitted his twelfth annual report, which was heartily accepted by the members of the board. Dr. Vardell reported that the year that is just closed has been a very successful one, all of the rooms in the dormitory having been full of students, and the prospects for a successful session this year are very bright. The Christian work in which the young ladies have been engaged is very gratifying, indeed. Dr. Vardell reported that the work of completing the Central building is progressing nicely, the interior of the building now being complete. The completion of this building, he declared, filled a long-felt want in the college especially in the way of parlors and reception halls. Dr. Vardell informed the board that the present enrollment of students at the college is 350, 236 of whom are boarding pupils and from time to time the number will be increased. The financial report showed the college to be in a sound and thriving condition financially, and were it not that a heavy debt hangs over the college it would be in a position to accomplish much more than it is doing at present.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, Druggist. 25c.

A young man with one or two years' experience in plain ruling and binding may secure a good situation by making application at The Star office. 3t

At The Theatre.

A play as broad in its interests as humanity itself. Elaborate and spectacular in production, weird in its portrayal of the elemental passions, absorbing as dream of the highest good yet keen and intense in its appeal to the individual; such is the description of the Wagner wonder drama which Charlotte is again to see in its new English dress at the Academy soon. It is generally conceded to be a condition of dramatic art that human interests must be paramount, and this condition has been complied with in the translation of "Parsifal." Abstract ideas and poetic fancies are made real in the characters and experiences of living persons. The faith that good shall be the final goal of ill, forms the legend wrought out to certitude in the action of the play. The futility of low cunning, craft, duplicity and all the unlovely brood of the nether world, when opposed by the nobler intelligence which comprehends, but disregards them all, is demonstrated in this thrilling drama, which centres around the personality of the son of many generations of soldier sires, whom his mother would have made a shepherd of but whom destiny made a king. There is sound philosophy and true art in the final description of the personality of Parsifal.

A guileless fool—in the eyes of the ...ish—not by wrath, nor by cyni... nor by cheap worldly wisdom, ... pity enlightened.

... spectacle, "Parsifal" is a tre...ndous enterprise; the scenery is on a lavish scale and the illuminations and electric effects from a striking feature of the production. An augmented orchestra of twenty musicians will render the soul-stirring strains of "Parsifal" as an accompaniment to the wondrous text.

The hour of commencement will differ from that of the former custom, the long dinner intermission having been eliminated now permits of giving the play at one sitting. The curtain for the evening performance will rise promptly at 7:45. Auditors should be in their seats when the performance begins, as none will be seated during the action of the play.

"THE HOLY CITY."

"The Holy City," Clarence Bennett's wonderfully successful Biblical drama, seems destined to take a place among the classics of the American ...tage. Each year it is witnessed by audiences of increasing size. Its popularity does not seem to give an indication of waning and eager demands are nearly always made for a return engagement. One of the reasons for its tremendous popularity is that it is a play which makes a universal appeal. The figure of Christ is only suggested and is never introduced upon the stage. The play is staged with a lavish splendor that is almost barbaric in its magnificence. The costuming is rich and a delight to the eye. The company presenting the play is recruited from among the best known metropolitan players and is capable and thoroughly efficien...

"The Holy City" will be presented at the Academy of Music soon.

HELEN BYRON, IN "PEGGY FROM PARIS."

Theatre patrons who are inclined to musical comedy will welcome the announcement that "Peggy From Paris" is coming to the Academy of Music on the night of the 14th. Everybody in this city has certainly heard of "Peggy From Paris," and probably most everybody has hoped for a chance to hear it. The opportunity is now approaching. This musical comedy is one of the pronounced successes of George Ade, the famous humorist. His are the book and lyric which are said to contain some of his brightest wit and keenest satire. Much of its humor and comedy has been quoted widely, which is proof of its brilliancy and cleverness. It is said that the characters in the play are especially droll and entertaining. They are amusing characters of interesting types. The music, too, has earned a reputation for its bright, spirited and catchy qualities.

HOLDING UP A TRAIN.

Among the new and varied scenes which will be depicted with Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, which will be seen in this city Oct. 7th, is one showing the various stages of far Western development and "The Great Train Hold-Up." The depredations of train-robbing outlaws have been a constant menace to the advance of civilization in the settlement of the prairies. With the advance of time their occupation has been made so hazardous through the vigilance of railroad officials and the methods employed for their capture and punishment that train hold-ups are now, fortunately, few and far between. Along the line of the Union Pacific and its tributary roads, train-robbing has become almost a thing of the past. This state of affairs has been brought about by the good work of the "Bandit Hunters of the Union Pacific," a body of men experienced in "roughing it" and familiar with men and country where bandits were wont to thrive. These avengers of lawlessness are provided with a special car in which their horses are stabled, ammunition is stored and all is held in readiness for immediate action in case of need. Col. Cody has prepared for his Wild West exhibition a reproduction of one of the typical train hold-ups which were formerly a frequent occurrence. Science has provided him with a practical train, drawn by a practical engine, and the scene painter has created a rugged mountain scene in which to present the melodrama. The manoeuvres of the bandits in stopping and robbing the train are shown in detail and the arrival of "The Bandit Hunters of the Union Pacific" gives an idea of the quick vengeance which is meted out to the lawless in the still sparsely settled West. Coincident with presentations of "The Great Train Hold-Up" will be shown "The Battle of Summit Springs," as the chief feature with the Wild West. There will also be shown "A Holiday at T-E Ranch," in which the life of the plainsman is reflected, and the dangers attendant upon pioneering will be set forth graphically in "The Attack On An Emigrant Train." These Western scenes will form only a part of Buffalo Bill's entertainment; there will be rough riding, military displays and exhibitions of horsemanship which are shown in no other entertainment now before the amusement-loving public.

FAITHFUL FIREMAN DIES

He Was Only an Asheville Dog, but He Was Loved.

(Asheville Citizen.)

Lying in state at the fire department headquarters, in a little white casket, is the mangled body of Jack, the faithful little mascot of the fire boys, and late yesterday afternon and last night hundreds of people stopped in to see him and get the facts of his tragic death. For more than nine years past Jack has been a privileged character around the fire department and never a call came but Jack was the first to respond, dashing out of the building and waiting, quivering with the eagerness, the slower start of the horses. When the wagon started he would run ahead barking lustily, keeping just out of the horses' way and seeming to enjoy the wild dash even more than did the fire horses. Yesterday as the hook and ladder was making a run down south Main street Jack was as usual ahead almost under the noses of the horses and by some mischance got too close. One of the horse's feet struck him, stunning him and leaving him lying right in the way of the wheels of the big truck. No stop could be made then, but as soon as the fire was reached help was sent back to him, but Jack did not need it. The wheel had passed over his head, killing him almost instantly.

His body was taken back to the city hall and a $13 coffin secured for him. Permission has been gotten from the authorities to bury him just in front of the fire department, between the two big doors, and at 3 o'clock this afternoon Jack will be laid away with all the honors the faithful little fireman deserves. All of the firemen will be on hand and it is safe to say that never was there more genuine regret and sorrow over the death of a dog than is felt by the boys of the department over his untimely end.

Mystification.

His weakness was prevarication. His wife detested lying and constantly urged him to mend his ways. One morning she said: "Will, see if you can't be perfectly truthful today. Don't tell a lie. Now, promise!" He promised and went away to work. When he came home to dinner, she said:

"Dear, did you keep your promise?"

"I did," he replied soberly.

Then he caught her in his arms.

"Darling," he cried, "I will not lie to you. When I said I had kept my promise to you, I did not tell the truth; but, believe me, that was the only lie I told all day."

For twenty-two seconds she was lost in perplexity. Then she gave it up; the problem was too deep for her.

A Smashup.

"What did the girl do when her father discovered them eloping?"

"She burst into tears."

"What did the young man do?"

"Oh, he went all to pieces."

"What did the old man do?"

"He? Why, he exploded with rage and blew them both up."

Adam Knew the Flood Was Coming.

An apocryphal book called the "Lesser Genesis" and well known to the early Christian fathers tells a wonderful incident in the life of Seth, the third son of Adam and Eve. When the goodly Seth was about forty years of age, he was "rapt" up into heaven by a trio of angels and there told and shown what was in store for mankind. Among other things, the coming of the great deluge was made known to him, as was also the coming of the Saviour. When he returned to earth, Seth told his parents what had happened and of what he had seen and heard concerning the future of the human race. "And Adam was much grieved when it was made known to him that the world would be destroyed by water on account of the wickedness of his own children, but a great peace and calmness came over him when Seth told how the face of the earth would again be repeopled. * * * His joy was exceedingly great when Seth related what was in store in the coming ages, and he was particularly glad to know that redemption should finally come through Jesus, the Christ."

Jeweler's Bit of Advice.

"I think I'll have to bring her in and let her choose," said the embarrassed young man as he looked hopelessly at the diamonds spread out on the table.

"Pardon me for a bit of advice," the jeweler said earnestly, leaning forward, "but I've had a lot of experience in such matters. If you pick it out yourself and take it to her she'll surely be satisfied. Always are. But if she comes here and sees bigger, handsomer rings she won't be contented with the one you can afford. The $500 or $800 ring she sees will stay by her. We've often lost sales that way. I've frequently seen the young woman pick out a ring that the man obviously couldn't afford, and he would find some excuse for not buying it."

Then the young man said he thought he might as well decide on that $110 trifle at once.—Kansas City Star.

Came Near Missing the Abbey.

"Well, it was worth coming the few miles for," said the American as he puffed a cigar and drank his coffee outside the restaurant at Mount St. Michael. "They told me that I ought to come here and eat an omelet, and that omelet was real good. Now, I expect there's not much more to do on this little rock, and so I'll be getting back to the motor."

"But," suggested his English companion of the moment, "have you seen the abbey?"

"Abbey!" came the sharp reply. "Have they got an abbey on this bit of stone? No, I've not seen that, and they didn't tell me anything about an abbey. They all talked about the omelet. But if you tell me that I ought to see the abbey, then I'll just have to stay half an hour and have a look at the place, but it'll make me late for dinner, I guess."—Westminster Gazette.

HON. JOHN JOHNSON

Story of Man Who May Be Next President of the United States.

Tragic Life of Father—The Democratic Governor Won by 72,000 Majority in Rock-Ribbed Republican State.

Who is John Johnson? Why do the people love him? Why did they elect him governor by 72,000 when the Democrats have never been able to carry the State before? Is there some magic power for leadership in this son of a village drunkard who helped his good mother with the washing? Is Colonel Henry Watterson right in his belief that John Johnson has some of the genius of Abraham Lincoln and that he may be the "dark horse" in the coming presidential campaign? The October American Magazine contains the whole romantic life story of John Johnson and his swift winning of a people's affection. It is great reading, and especially timely.

The Tragic Story of the Father.

Gustav Johnson, John Johnson's father, came to America, it appears, in the early fifties. He was by trade a blacksmith. He was the inheritor of some little property. He settled in St. Peter, which at that time could be reached only by prairie schooner or else by a real water-boat up the Mississippi and then up the Minnesota.

Shortly after Gustav Johnson arrived in St. Peter there also arrived a Swedish girl named Caroline Haden. She was alone. She had lost her parents by disease and her brothers by chance. She never found those brothers again. She married Gustav Johnson and their second son was named John Albert. John's father therefore and his mother, too, were completely separated from the traditions of the old country. The mother could not trace her ancestry and the father did not want to. John grew up as a totally new product in a totally new land.

For several years after moving into St. Peter, John's father, Gustav, continued to practice his trade, the trade of a blacksmith. He was a strong man and an intelligent workman. But suddenly, like a ghost from across the Atlantic, there came his old passion. His wife Caroline had not known that back in Sweden her husband had long ago evoked and temporarily buried the taste for drink By the time John was thirteen Gustave had sold his interest in his blacksmith shop for $200, had gone away and lost himself, and come back again, had sworn repentance, and disavowed that repentance, had been turned away from the door of his own house by a sensible neighbor at the time of the birth of his last child, had been examined and convicted of "alcoholic dementia" by the doctor of the village, and had been sentenced to the county poor house.

It was a sad, a tragic story. It would not be mentioned here were it not for two facts. First, the fate of his father became a fantastic element in John Johnson's first campaign for governor. Second, the fate of his father became an essential element in the development of John Johnson's personal character, and without the development of his personal character, John Johnson would never have been governor.

Is This the Next Great Democrat?

Colonel Watterson, approached by the American Magazine, has written for that periodical a statement which forms the introduction to the article. It follows

"It happens that I have known Governor Johnson for many years and have watched his career with interest. He is a most exceptional man both in character and ability; a steady-going, level-headed man, who thinks first and acts afterwards; a man who does things worth doing; nothing visionary, or fantastic about him. He is as typical an American in his personality, in his working methods and in his mental processes and perspectives as may be found among the rich progency of the Scotch-Irish, to which the country owes so much, being of Scandinavian origin, next after the Scotch-Irish high upon the racial honor roll whence we have drawn so many of our statesmen and soldiers. That means that he could not fail to prove, as he has already proven, a great vote-getter. He has not been mixed up in any faction-fighting. He comes from the right quarter. Even as Lincoln emerged from obscurity to take the helm, it seems to me that this man might, so like Lincoln in his simplicity and modesty as well as his hard up-hill antecedent experiences.

"That is all, but don't say I told you, because I am wholly out of politics and much out of favor, nor yet making presidents, so that my words might do Governor Johnson more harm than good, in the event—which I take leave to doubt—that he is seriously thinking about being a candidate."

For the Fight on Hand is This the Coming Democrat?

John Johnson, forty-two years old, is a Swede. His father was a drunkard, and died in the poor-house. His mother supported her children by taking in washing. And John Johnson helped his mother with the washing!

Johnson first made good as a clerk. Then he became a popular country editor. His two passions were books and people. He was elected to the Legislature, and he has been twice chosen Governor of Minnesota. In 1904, the first time he ran, Roosevelt, Republican, carried the State by 161,000. John Johnson, Democratic candidate for Governor, carried the State, too. His plurality was 7,800. John Johnson had changed 84,400 votes. Eighty-four thousand, four hundred men who voted for Roosevelt, Republican, had also voted for Johnson, Democrat. Two years later when Johnson sought re-election, with Roosevelt out of the way, his plurality, instead of being 7,800, was 72,000.

Of Johnson's personality, William Hard, author of the article, says

"The fact is, that Johnson's personality, so effective with people that have known him all his life in St. Peter, is almost equally as effective with people who see him only for one evening on the platform. He is a public speaker of the first rank. Had this not been true, he could never have won his first election. He was unknown when he started. But every man who has heard Johnson speak is acquainted with him. You hear him and you feel that now you know him and understand him, and the result is votes rather than ovations.

"For Johnson today, I repeat, is just what he always was, except that he has grown. He is liked and trusted as a Governor, just as he was liked and trusted as a drug store clerk and afterwards as an editor. They said he had no training to be an editor, but he expanded to be an editor. They said he had no training to be a governor, but he expanded to be a governor."

The Platform of a "Dark Horse."

Here is Mr. Johnson's income tax He is in favor of a State inheritance tax. He is against passes. He is in favor of an extension of State control over electric railway lines and over telegraph and telephone companies. He inclines toward municipal ownership. In one of his best-known local speeches he said: 'Students of economics have proved conclusively that the service to the people is generally better and cheaper when supplied by the city direct than when supplied by private individuals under a charter or corporation right, and every city should think well before it parts with these great privileges.' Johnson is also in favor of an advisory initiative and referendum. And he is still further in favor of submitting to the people of Minnesota a constitutional amendment which will give them the opportunity of saying whether or not they want an initiatve and referendum which will be not only advisory but binding upon the Legislature. He would allow the people by popular vote to give instructions to the Legislature and afterwards by popular vote to confirm or to veto the laws passed by the Legislature. Certainly a 'progressive' and explicit programme." was thirteen in order to support has mother, left resourceless by her husband's financial and moral failure. John was only the second son. His mother objected to his leaving school. He insisted. He saw a duty. It was the first element in his education.

He could not at first support the whole family. His mother took in washing. People's first recollection of John Johnson in St. Peter is when he was wheeling his mother's washing about in a little wagon. But the washings did not last long. Two

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 5.—There was no marked change today in the sluggish and indifferent tone into which the stock market has fallen. The Southern railroad group made another exhibition of weakness, but the general list showed some absorptive power and the undertone was firm for most of the time. There was some relief over the showing of the bank statement as possibility of the wiping out of the surplus had been in mind. The reductnon in the loan account of the banks reached an average of $11,283,100, and banking experts attribute this almost wholly to large repayments by New York city of obligations which have been carried and for the liquidation of which the recent bond issue supplied resources.

Prices sold off in the final dealings under the influence of the bank statement and made the closing tone easy.

Bonds were steady. Total sales par value, $526,00. United States 4's have declined 3-4 per cent. on call during the weak. Total sales stocks today, 157,300 shares.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 5.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 9 points and worked up to a net gain of 12 to 14 points during middle session as a result of very firm cables continued support from a local bull pool, and covering for over the week end. But the weather may did not show the expected frosts in the western belt and there was a good deal of realizing by small longs as well as some aggressive selling by local bears which checked the upward movement and caused a reaction of 3 or 4 points during the middle of the morning. Market closed steady with prices net 7 to 11 points higher.

Receipts at the ports today were 31,984 bales against 31,694 last week and 46,408 last year. For the week 225,000 bales against 217,597 last week and 344,541 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 2,522 bales against 5,350 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet, 10 points higher; middling uplands 11.75; middling gulf 12.00; sales none.

YORKSHIRE PIES.

Here Is the Way They Were Made In the Olden Days.

The delicacy of the Yorkshire pies of olden days may be judged by the following recipe from an old fashioned cookery book: "First make a good standing crust, let the wall and bottom be very thick; bone a turkey, a goose, a fowl, a partridge and a pigeon; season them all very well; take half an ounce of mace, half an ounce of nutmegs, a quarter of an ounce of cloves and half an ounce of black pepper, all beat fine together; two large spoonfuls of salt, and then mix them together. Open the fowls all down the back and bone them, first the pigeon, then the partridge; cover them; then the fowl, then the goose and then the turkey, which must be large; season them all well first and lay them in the crust so that it will look only like a whole turkey; then have a hare ready cased and wiped with a clean cloth; cut it to pieces—that is, joint it; season it and lay it as close as you can on one side; on the other side woodcock, more game and what sort of wild fowl you can get. Season them well and lay them close; put at least four pounds of butter into the pie, then lay on your lid, which must be a very thick one, and let it be well baked. It must have a very hot oven and will take at least four hours." It is not surprising to find that a footnote adds that the crust requires a bushel of flour.—Chambers' Journal.

GFITS PRESENTED TO OLDEST PARISH

Bruton Parish Church at Williamsburg, Va., Signally Honored by Episcopalians.

CONVENTION IN RICHMOND

Messengers From Rulers of Two Great English-Speaking Nations Carry Tokens of Admiration For Early Founders.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Williamsburg, Va., Oct. 5.—Messengers from the rulers of the two great English-speaking Nations journeyed to Williamsburg today from the Triennial General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States and presented to Bruton Parish Church in America, which has been longer in continuous use than any other Episcopal church in this country, beautiful gifts as tokens of the high admiration in which the memory of the founders of this pioneer house of worship is held on both sides of the Atlantic. The gift of President Roosevelt is a bronze lectern, which now holds a magnificent edition of the English Bible sent by the King of England. The service at the parish church was full of historic interest and attracted a great crowd, including practically the entire membership of the Richmond convention.

It was for the purpose of presenting to Bruton parish the Bible sent by King Edward that the Bishop of London visited America. In his address at the church he referred feelingly to the King's interest in the house of worship built by the colonists. Bishop Satterlee, of the diocese of Washington, representing President Roosevelt, at the services spoke of the appropriateness of gifts being received from the two rulers at this time and declared that he believed it would be the beginning of the re-union of Christendom.

The ceremony incident to the presentation of the gifts was in accordance with the beautiful Episcopal ritual, but the great interest attached because of the prominence of the churchmen participating. Those not only included a number of foreign bishops, but the highest Episcopal clergy in the United States and in the audience as representatives of the general convention were many prominent citizens of the United States. The delegation as appointed represented the thirteen original States. J. Pierpont Morgan, of New York, occupied a pew directly in front of the altar and was the object of much curiosity to his evident embarrassment.

Wooden shutters closed all of the windows of the church, principally on account of the fact that services were being held in the parish church yard simultaneously with the presentation ceremonies. The interest of the crowd was so great that before the ceremony had fairly started these shutters were crowded open and the people climbed to the window ledges, where from that position large numbers watched the services.

The visiting bishops robed in the parish house and their procession with the choir across the shaded grove studding the church yard was one of the most imposing features of the ceremonies. When the procession filed into the church, it filed down a lane made by two walls of humanity.

After the inspiring service of hymns and prayers the rector of the church made a statement of the historical significance of the occasion and outlined the labors of love that had attended the restoration of the old building. Bishop Satterlee then presented the regrets of President Roosevelt because of his inability to personally bestow his gift upon the parish. With appropriate remarks the Bishop then presented the lectern and spoke of the Bible it was soon to hold. In a few well chosen remarks the gift was received by Bishop Randolph, of the diocese of Southern Virginia.

When Bishop Ingram, of London, rose to address the audience he contributed a surprise by first exhibiting and presenting to the Parish a handsomely bound prayer book, which was sent by Bruton Parish in Somersetshire, England. During his presentation of King Edward's Bible Bishop Ingram said:

"In showing this mark of loving interest in the welfare of the church, my sovereign is only following out what has been done by many of his predecessors. Here and there all over America, certainly in those parts settled previous to 1800, are to be found many communion services, fonts and even lecterns that were given by Kings or by Queens of my country. Here in Williamsburg is William and Mary College, and last night in my address I told the story, as some may recall, about the payment of three Indian arrows as remittance for tuition. The act of King Edward is not an unusual one and I may add that it is not an official one. I am sure that King Edward VII, will never forget that the crowning moment of his life such a Bible as this one was presented to him and he was told that it is the most valuable gift that he can receive. Believe me, the King, my sovereign, has the warmest desire for the welfare of the people of America and especially for the spiritual welfare of this and of all people. How appropriate is it that gifts from the two great peacemakers of the world should here meet in this historic place, and remain here forever to do their part toward the peace of the world. All England congratulates you of America on the splendid act, performed not without heroism, of Theodore Roosevelt, in taking the lead toward peace between Russia and Japan, when they were engaged in an inhuman war. We look upon King Edward as a peacemaker. Could there be more fitting gifts from the two great peacemakers, who are at this moment at the head of the two great English-speaking Nations?"

After the services in the church, Bishop Ingram addressed the overflow meeting in the parish church yard.

Five special trains of seven coaches each were used in conveying the crowd to Williamsburg and return.

ALVAH H. MARTIN TO SUCCEED BARR

First Vice President Elected Director General of Jamestown Affairs.

MEETING LASTED FOUR HOURS

Seaboard Air Line Man Refused to Withdraw His Resignation—T. S. Southgate Only Other Nominee—Letter From Treasury.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 5.—Alvah H. Martin, first vice president and governor of transportation of the Jamestown Exposition, was today elected director general of the Exposition to succeed James M. Barr, whose resignation was finally accepted by the directorate.

The action was taken at a meeting of the Board of Directors, which lasted almost four hours. Mr. Barr was asked to withdraw his resignation and a committee on ceremonies was appointed to take charge of social functions under the direction of the executive committee and the board of directors, all estimates of necessary expenses thus incurred to be subject to the approval of the director general. Mr. Barr, however, declined to withdraw his resignation.

Mr. Martin, when his name was proposed at today's meeting, was presiding over the Board, and he immediately asked to be excused and retired from the room. The only other nomination was that of T. S. Southgate, governor of exhibits. Mr. Martin was elected over Mr. Southgate by a vote of 26 to 17. A committee immediately notified Mr. Martin and he was escorted to the room and announced his acceptance of the office.

During the meeting a telegram was read from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Edwards bearing on the situation, but the message was withheld for the time.

THE FLOOR COLLAPSED.

Panic at Political Rally in Waterbury, Conn., Last Night.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Waterbury, Conn., Oct. 5.—By the collapse of the floor in the Northend Athletic Club, at 36 East Farm street, tonight during a Republican rally, two hundred men were precipitated into the cellar of the building. As the floor gave way, a board knocked a lamp from its bracket and immediately the building caught fire. In a mad struggle to get out of the cellar many of the men were trampled under and they became panic stricken at the sight of the fire. Doubtless many would have been killed had not those who escaped shouted to those in the cellar that there was no danger. As it was only one man, Harry Dean, a well known Republican worker, was dangerously hurt. Dean was found unconscious at the bottom of the heap when the police and firemen came to the rescue.

John E. Sewell, the Republican candidate for mayor, had just finished his speech as the floor gave way, and was one of those carried down into the cellar.. He was bruised and scratched and his clothes were burned and torn, but he assisted in the work of rescue.

HUGH GORDON MILLER SUES.

Wants 25,000 Damages for Insult Offered Him by Conductor.

(Special to Times-Dispatch.)

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 4.—Suit for $25,000 has been entered in the United States Court against the Norfolk and Portsmouth Traction Company by Hugh Gordon Miller, of the New York State Jamestown Commission and vice president of the Robert Fulton Memorial Association of New York, and formerly assistant United States district attorney for the Western District of Virginia. Mr. Miller claims damages for alleged insult and assault and battery by a conductor, to whom he protested against the operation of the car by an alleged intoxicated motorman.

The plaintiff alleges that he was being beaten by the conductor, and servant of the defendant company, when a "high Federal judicial official," accompanying him, beat the conductor off with an umbrella and demanded in the name of the law that the attack cease.

INLAND WATER WAYS

Fourteen-Foot Channel Recommended. At Chicago Next.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 5.—After selecting Chicago for the meeting place next year and calling upon Congress to authorize a 14-foot channel from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes, the inland water way congress adjourned today.

Speeches were delivered by men woh have made a life study of the Nation's rivers and harbors,and in every instance a deep water channel from the Gulf to the Northern lakes was adopted.

The most notable speech was that of President Roosevelt yesterday in which he said that the 14-foot chanel was a necessity and the great question for the future will be how to secure it.

At night a banquet and smoker was tendered the delegates.

STRIP OF BUNTING IS DETROIT'S OWN

Pennant Chase in American Baseball League Seems Cinched For The Tigers.

THREE GAMES YESTERDAY

Took Fifteen Innings For Philadelphia to Trim the Washingtons—Easy Victory For Champions From St. Louis.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

St. Louis, October 5.—Detroit today won the American league pennant by defeating St. Louis 10 to 2. Up to the fourth inning Powell held Detroit safely, no one reaching second base, but in the fourth Cobb's triple started a batting bee that sent Jones across the plate in that inning and so worked on Powell that two bases on balls, two triples and a double were marked up for Detroit in the fifth, netting five runs. After the disastrous fifth the result of the game was never in doubt. In the seventh and in the ninth, St. Louis made a run but by the close of the game, Detroit had added four more tallies to its score, three of them coming in the final inning. Ground rules were unnecessary. Two more games are scheduled for tomorrow. Umpire "Billy" Evans who was severely injured during last Detroit series several weeks ago worked with Umpire Sheridan and was warmly greeted by the Detroit players who showed strong dissapproval when the bottle was thrown.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Philadelphia secured a double victory over Washington today. The first game went fifteen innings, the Philadelphias using three pitchers, Fritz, a youngster from New Orleans, Waddell and Vickers. Charley Smith of the locals was hit freely, but through good support three runs were cut off at the plate. Frits became unsteady in the third inning, and was relieved by Waddell, who in turn was succeeded in the fourth inning by Vickers. A bad throw by T. Smith to Shipke in the fifteenth in an effort to head off Hartsell at third, lost the game for Washington. Vickers was going so strongly in the first game that Mack pitched him in the second and he did not allow one of the locals to reach first base.

EARLY THAW TRIAL WANTED.

Plea Will Be Combated Because of Other Important Cases.

(Special to Baltimore Sun.)

New York, Oct. 4.—The date of the second trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White, it was announced at the Criminal Courts Building this afternon, will in all probability be fixed next Monday morning.

The announcement was made after District Attorney Jerome had been served with a notice to appear before Justice Dowling, in the Criminal Term of the Supreme Court, at that time and show cause why the date of the trial should not be fixed at once. The notice was served by A. Russell Peabody, attorney of record for Thaw.

It is generally believed the date will be set for some time in November.

years after John's father failed, two years after John himself went to work, this second son, this little boy, fifteen years of age, came to his mother and told her that she must now stop working. He could now support her, and also his younger brother and sisters. He was now the head of the family.

His mother resisted his determination. She was a woman of strong mind and of strong body. In her extreme old age, when her death was expected, she used to walk to Kasota, three miles away, and would refuse to ride. And her mental energy was equal to her physical energy. But John triumphed over her. She stopped taking in washing. And when he had overcome her, she used always to say that it was the proudest moment of her life. She apparently was proud to have produced a son who could overcome her. So, at fifteen, John attained to the leadership of his own family. And all this leadership, from then to now, has continued to be a kind of family leadership, personal, intimate, touching.

STUDENTS AGAINST HAZING

Resolutions Adopted by Several Calsses at Chapel Hill.

(Special to Times-Dispatch.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., October 4.—At a meeting of the senior class of the University of North Carolina, held yesterday afternoon, the following resolution was adopted:

"We are gratified to note that hazing has almost become a thing of the past at the University of North Carolina. We therefore heartily commend the sophomore class for the sane mannear in which they are looking at this question and we pledge ourselves, as a class, to use all fair and reasonable means to maintain the present status of affairs."

A resolution of a like nature has been adopted by the first medical class.

These resolutions are expressive in a measure of the feelings of a majority of the students at the university this year in regard to this question of hazing, which has caused so much trouble in the past. A reactionary movement against hazing has set in, and while it has not been completely exterminated, yet the practice has become so modified and the percentage of students indulging in it so small, that the opinion of the most conservative students seems to be that its days are numbered at the university.
